THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

... The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. ... A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

. . . . Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, mproved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that concetion. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before ns; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

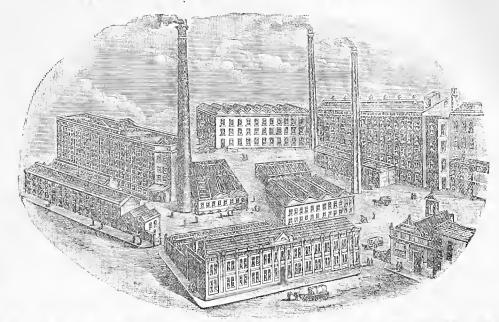

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

PREFACE.

IN presenting to the public another Edition of our SCOTTISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, we have again to tender sincere thanks to our numerous Subscribers and Friends for the steadily increased patronage which, from year to year, has been accorded to this work. Our expectation that a practical and carefully-compiled Trades' Directory for the whole of Scotland, issued at a moderate price, would secure the appreciation of the public has been more than justified.

Since the last edition was issued, the Directory has undergone a complete and thorough revision, and it is confidently hoped that mistakes are both few and unimportant, as neither care nor expense have been spared to have the information as recent and reliable as possible. For errors of omission, or inaccuracy, which may crop up, however, we must plead the indulgence of our patrons in view of the comprehensive nature of the work.

In the process of compilation and bringing up to date of the present edition of the Directory, very many names have been added to its lists, our agents having visited every City, Town, and Village in Scotland to verify, by personal application, every name it contains. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and we trust we have succeeded in some measure in producing a reliable Book of Reference, which will be the means of bringing Traders into closer relationship throughout the country.

By the adoption of the most approved type-setting machinery, and other special plant, we are enabled to keep the type standing—thus lessening the cost of production, reducing typographical errors to a minimum, and securing the general accuracy of the work—and to issue our Directory at less than half the price usually charged for similar publications. The price to British Subscribers remains 12s. 6d. as hitherto; Colonial and Foreign Subscribers are charged 5s. extra to cover additional cost of carriage, etc.

NEW COUNTY DIRECTORY.

A New Edition of "The County Supplement," bringing the information up to date, is added to this year's issue of the "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." This Supplement forms an exhaustive Directory of the Nobility, County and Professional Gentlemen, and Farmers, throughout Scotland, and is issued at the price of 7s. 6d. extra; or may be had bound separately, price ros. 6d.

In offering our best thanks to all those who favoured us, directly or through our representatives, with information, we wish to state that any suggestion likely to increase the usefulness of the work will have our respectful consideration. It will be our earnest and constant endeavour in future editions, by accuracy of detail, completeness of information, and the introduction of new features, to merit the continued confidence of the public.

MACDONALD'S

English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Dally News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.—The steady expansion of "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has rendered it necessary to divide the new and revised edition just published into two-portly volumes, each of which comprises considerably more than three thousand pages. This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

Dally Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guide to the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convement.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions. trades, and businesses in upwards of four thousand towns and eities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Licensed Victualiers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of something over 6coo pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a shall seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of nainstaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. If is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price to non-subscribers is £4, and even at such a price must be considered very cheap.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of husiness, their "Irish" Directory being in its twelfth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its seventeenth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. A section for banks and a capital gazetteer are appended. There are various maps, and no pains seem to have been spared in making the Directory complete, comprehensive, and trustworthy. In brief, it presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

Weekiy Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referce (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A Colossal Directory.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory. The work is revised annually, and every effort is made by the publishers to ensure its accuracy.

Dally Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKETFERS."-In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and marchants in touch with likely customers in England. Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years, and that the large additions to the issue of 1899 (about 8co pages) necessitated the division of the book into two volumes. area covered is so wide and the changes and additions so constant that, to our mind, it is only a question of time to see another division and a third volume. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The Law Journal (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" contains a remarkable amount of information of inferest to the commercial classes.

The Anglo-American (London)

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—The work will he of great service to merchants and manufacturers. It is evident that Messrs Macdonald & Co. have put forth every possible effort, regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work. The result is that they have produced what they instly claim to he the largest directory in the English language.

The Ironmonger (London)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are), the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a hold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhahitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of. say twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A Wonderful Book.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES DIRECTORY.—One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades directory. Such is provided by Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Id., who have just issued a new and considerably-enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazetteer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of some 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could he. As regards its accuracy, it need only be said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given.

Manchester Courier

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has now reached its fifteenth year of publication. It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdenald's English Directory and Gazetteer." The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Commercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. Reference is facilitated by coloured edges of the pages, with the names of towns and so on printed thereon. The work is a marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multi-tude of specialist producers and distributors.

Birmingham Daily Gazette

As the only Trades Directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Fitherto they have heen compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant customers, and the want of a comorebensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weighty volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, scace, and money.

The African Review (London)

These ponderous volumes contain a mass of information giving in a complete form a directory of the trades and traders of the whole kingdom. It claims to be the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. In any case, it is admirably printed, and so well arranged that anyone can glean from it the information he requires with a minimum of trouble.

Leeds Mercury

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—"Macdonald's English Directory" is a gigantic work in two volumes, the two forming a load for an office-boy. It is a gazetteer as well. By a simple plan, reference is made easy to any part of the contents So far as we can judge by towns we know, great care has been bestowed upon the preparation of these great volumes, which are brought as near to date as possible. For such a mass of information, the price (£4) must be regarded as very moderate.

The Yorkshire Post (Leeds)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" appears this vear in two huge volumes of over 6000 pages Completeness and accuracy throughout such a colossal work are of course impossible, but the greatest care has evidently been taken to reach both, and it bears, as well as most directories of smaller scope, the test of local knowledge. It is intended especially for traders having business relations in all parts of the country, who, without it, would be obliged to burden their offices with a large number of directories.

Sheffield Daily Telegraph

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 comprises two enormous volumes. The true test of any directory is to turn up your own town and other places with which you are familiar. Tried by this test, we have found Macdonald's Directory remarkably accurate. Although in several of the trades it is not so comprehensive as a local work would be, it is comprehensive enough for all practical purposes. In its particulars of rural districts in our immediate neighbourhood it is also quite relible.

Sheffield Independent

The two bulky volumes that comprise this publication must be a veritable godsend to merchants and manufacturers whose business relations extend all over the country. For it contains alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, traders, and shippers in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres throughout England, and, moreover, is so capitally arranged, so clearly printed and so firmly bound as to render the task of reference to its pages easy and profitable.

Bradford Daily Telegraph

Messrs William Macdenald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, London, and Dublin, have issued a trade directory that embraces the whole of England. There are two huge volumes. The directory in its present form represents the work of many years, and the expenditure of a large amount of capital. The Gazetteer has been greatly extended, and will be found invaluable for commercial reference.

Western Daily Press (Bristoi)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900 -A work consisting of two volumes, and containing about three thousand pages in each volume, may fairly be described as a marvellous enterprise. The work is clearly divided, the first volume being made up of a trades' directory of London and over two hundred suburban districts, and a separate trades' directory for each of the principal provincial cities and towns, of which about forty are dealt with; while the second volume is devoted to all other towns, with villages of importance. A handy gazetteer is given, which contributes to the completeness of an undertaking of colossal proportions.

Newcastle Chronicle

We have not had this huge volume olaced upon the scales, but it is of great avoirdupois, though not beyond the lifting strength of a well-nourished office boy. This valuable book is now being issued in two volumes, the scond one alone containing some three thousand pages. It is a trade directory of the entire kingdom, and is invaluable for manufacturers and merchants who wish to see at a glance the names of the persons in any town or village engaged in any particular profession, trade, or business.

Western Mali (Cardiff)

The compilation of a trades directory for the whole of England and Wales must have involved an amount of work and organisation calculated to deter any but the most sanguine and enthusiastic of men from embarking on a task of such magnitude. Nevertheless, the work has been accomplished, and we have now before us two bulky volumes representing the edition for 1900. A more useful book of reference for merchants, manufacturers, and traders, of every description cannot well beinggined. A map of England and street maps of London and the principal provincial towns are included, and a section of the book is devoted to a gazetteer.

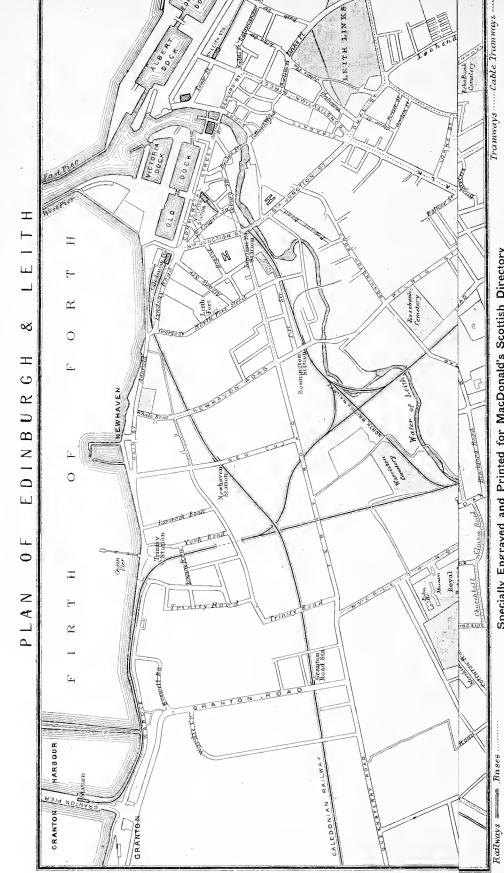

South Wales Daily News (Cardiff)

The work is divided into two stupendous volumes of over 3000 pages each, strongly bound, and admirably indexed. In order to indicate the enormous range of the information given in the directory, it may be mentioned that it includes authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, and a concise gazetteer of England and Wales, giving a great deal of useful information.

Weston Mercury and Somersetshire Herald (Woston-Super-Mare)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 compiled by William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., is one of the most comprehensive works that has ever been issued.

Or FLAMBEAUX

T. C. BARLOW, Glasgow, begs to draw attention to his newly invented WAX TORCHES which burn with a large flame, speciality for Torch-light Processions, and are specially suitable for the use of Fire Brigades, Military and Gymnastic Clubs, Railways, Army, Town Authorities, Masonic, Students, and other Processions, &c., &c.

As is well known, the Pitch Torches let fall during their use red-hot drops and burning particles of tow, and they give out a very objectionable smoke which damages clothes, flags, and decorations, besides being troublesome to both carriers and spectators.

These inconveniences are not to be found with the torches manufactured by T. C. BARLOW from Wax. They burn with a clear high-flickering flame which withstands strong winds and rain, they drip hardly at all, and are pleasant in appearance and do not soil when in use.

The price of the Wax Torches does not exceed that for Pitch or Resin Torches, and have superior brilliancy, and burn a longer time if a fine night.

No. 1 burns $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours. No. 2, 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours. Price 1/- each.

No. 3, $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 hours. Price 2/- each. Price 1/6 each.

Therefore, for every purpose where a bright easily portable light is required, such as Torch-light Processions, Picnics, Railway Service, Open-air Works, Barges, Sledging Parties, and Ice Sports, T. C. BARLOW can thoroughly recommend the employment of his newly invented Wax Torch specially for Masonic Processions.

At the same time T. C. BARLOW would mention his "VAUXHALL." or

For decorations for interior or exterior.

of EVERY DESCRIPTION, Fireworks FOR PUBLIC OR PRIVATE DISPLAYS.

Illustrated List of Flags of all Nations—30 in. by 30 in. (up to date), in brilliant colours, may be had Gratis and Post Free.

NOTE.—There are Four qualities of Bunting, but T. C. BARLOW, Glasgow, only uses
No. 1 quality—THE BEST.

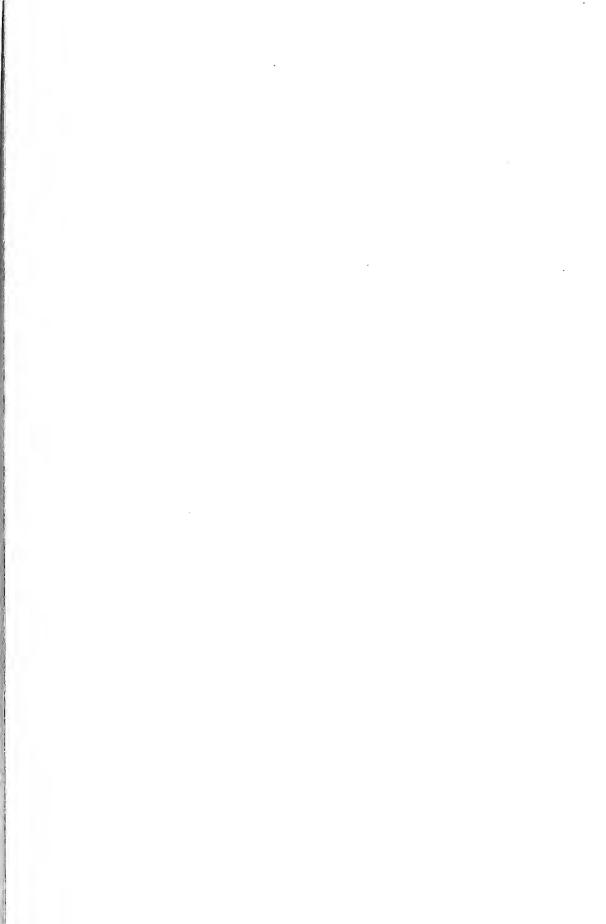

FLAGS CLEANED and REPAIRED, and SECOND-HAND FLAGS returned from Hire at About ONE-THIRD ORIGINAL COST.

96 BUCHANAN ST., GLASGOW,

THO have had over THIRTY YEARS' PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE, continue to obtain BRITISH and FOREIGN PATENTS for INVENTIONS, and register DESIGNS and TRADE MARKS at Lowest Charges.

Under the "Patents, Designs, and Trade Marks' Acts, 1883 and 1885," which are now in operation, Inventions may be provisionally protected at a nominal fee, and ample time is given for experimentally testing and perfecting improvements before Complete Specifications and Drawings have to be filed. Inventors are therefore recommended to secure Provisional Protection before undertaking costly trials.

Full information regarding cost and procedure on application for Patents will be found in the "INVENTOR'S GUIDE," which may be had gratis.

HIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s. -a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of London, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

Birmingham Cardiff Blackburn Bolton Bradford Brighton Bristol Burnley

Derby Devonport Gateshead Halifax Huddersfield Huil

Leeds Leicester Liverpool and Birkenhead Manchester and Oldham Salford Middlesbrough

Newcastle-on-Tyne Northampton Norwich Nottingham Plymouth and Stonehouse

Portsmouth Preston Reading Rochdale St Helens Southampton Sheffield

South Shields Stockport Sunderland Swansea Walsall Wolverhampton York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in Wales, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in Style of Firms or Change of Address should be communicated to the Publishers.

MACDONALD'S

English Directory and Gazetteer.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY.—The steady expansion of "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has rendered it necessary to divide the new and revised edition just published into two portly volumes, each of which comprises considerably more than three thousand pages. This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvions.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guidato the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions. trades, and businesses in upwards of four thousand towns and eities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Liconsed Victualiers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of something over 6000 pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a small seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of nainstaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price to nonsubscribers is £4, and even at such a price must be considered very cheap.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of husiness, their "Irish" Directory being in its twelfth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its seventeenth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of canital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. A section for banks and a capital gazetteer are appended. There are various maps, and no pains seem to have been spared in making the Directory complete, comprehensive, and trustworthy. In brief, it presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

Weekly Diapatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" must be invaluable to all traders.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory. The work is revised annually, and every effort is made by the publishers to ensure its accuracy.

Daily Chronicle (Low Jeen)

"A NATION OF SHOPKELERRS."-In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present forms represents the labour of several years, and that the large additions to the issue of 1899 (ahout 8co pages) necessitated the division of the book into two volumes. area covered is so wide and the changes and additions so constant that, to our mind, it is only a question of time to see another division and a third volume. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, and Manchester.

The Law Journal (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" contains a remarkable amount of information of inferest to the commercial classes.

The Anglo-American (London)

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—The work will be of great service to merchants and manufacturers. It is evident that Messrs Macdonald & Co. have put forth every possible effort, regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work. The result is that they have produced what they instly claim to be the largest directory in the English language.

The Ironmonger (Landon)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are), the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a bold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhabitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of. say, twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A Wonderful Book.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES DIRECTORY .- One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades directory. Such is provided by Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ld., who have just issue! a new and considerably-enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazet-teer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of some 4000 cities. towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could be. As regards its accuracy, it need only be said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given.

Manchester Courier

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" has now reached its fifteenth year of publication. It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer."
The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Com. mercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. Reference is facilitated by coloured edges of the on printed thereon. The work is a marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multitude of specialist producers and distributors.

Birmingham Daily Gazette

As the only Trades Directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Bitherto they have been compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant customers, and the want of a comprehensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weighty volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, space, and money.

The African Review (London)

These ponderons volumes contain a mass of information giving in a complete form a directory of the trades and traders of the whole kingdom. It claims to be the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. In any case, it is admirably printed, and so well arranged that anyone can glean from it the information he requires with a minimum of trouble.

Leeds Mercury

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—" Macdonald's English Directory" is a gigantic work in two volumes, the two forming a load for an office-boy. It is a gazetteer as well. By a simple plan, reference is made easy to any part of the contents. So far as we can judge by towns we know, great care has been bestowed upon the preparation of these great volumes, which are brought as near to date as possible. For such a mass of information, the price (£4) must be regarded as very moderate.

The Yorkshire Post (Leeds)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" appears this year in two huge volumes of over 6000 pages. Completeness and accuracy throughout such a colossal work are of course impossible, out the greatest care has evidently been taken to reach both, and it bears, as well as most directories of smaller scope, the test of local knowledge. It is intended especially for traders having business relations in all oarts of the country, who, without it, would be obliged to burden their offices with a large number of directories.

Sheffleld Daily Telegraph

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 comprises two enormons volumes. The true test of any directory is to turn up your own town and other places with which you are familiar. Tried by this test, we have found Macdonald's Directory remarkably accurate. Although in several of the trades it is not so comprehensive as a local work would be, it is comprehensive enough for all practical purposes. In its particulars of rural districts in our immediate neighbourhood it is also quite relible.

Sheffleld Independent

The two hulky volumes that comnrise this publication must be a veritable godsend to merchants and manufacturers whose husiness relations extend all over the country. For it contains alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, traders, and shippers in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres throughout England, and, moreover, is so capitally arranged, so clearly printed, and so firmly bound as to render the task of reference to its pages easy and morfitable.

Bradford Daily Telegraph

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinhurgh, London, and Dublin, have issued a trade directory that embraces the whole of England. There are two huge volumes. The directory in its present form represents the work of many years, and the expenditure of a large amount of capital. The Gazetteer has been greatly extended, and will be found invaluable for commercial reference.

Western Daily Press (Bristol)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—A work-consisting of two volumes, and containing about three thousand pages in each volume, may fairly be described as a maryellons enterprise. The work is clearly divided, the first volume being made up of a trades' directory of London and over two hundred suburban districts, and a separate trades' directory for each of the principal provincial cities and towns, of which about forty are dealt with; while the second volume is devoted to all other towns, with villages of importance. A handy gazetteer is given, which contributes to the completeness of an undertaking of colossal proportions.

Newcastle Chronicle

We have not had this huge volume nlaced upon the scales, but it is of great avoirdupois, though not beyond the lifting strength of a well-nourished office boy. This valuable hook is now being issued in two volumes, the second one alone containing some three thousand pages. It is a trade directory of the entire kingdom, and is invaluable for mannfacturers and merchauts who wish to see at a glance the names of the persons in any town or village engaged in any particular profession, trade, or business.

Western Mail (Cardiff)

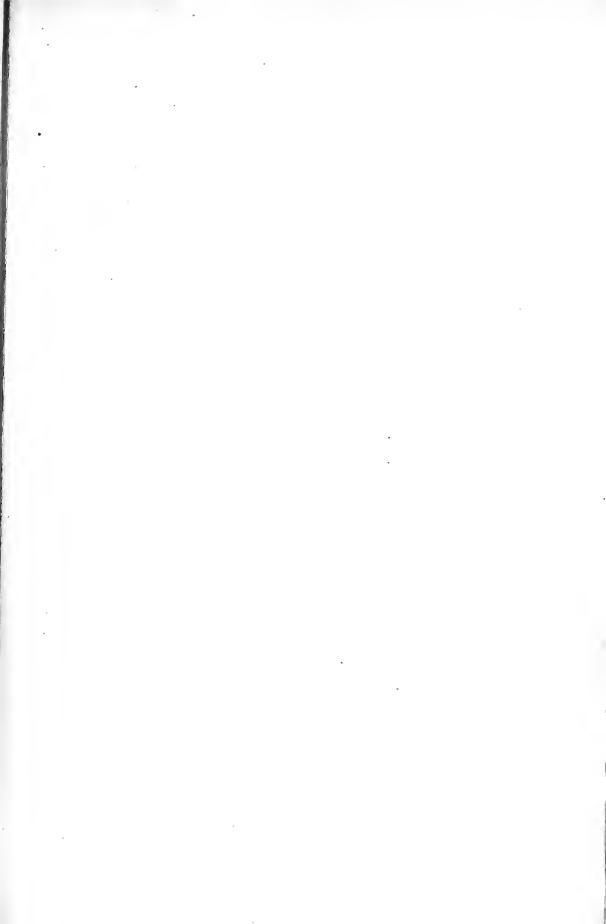

The compilation of a trades directory for the whole of England and Wales must have involved an amount of work and organisation calculated to deter any but the most sanguine and enthusiastic of men from embarking on a task of such magnitude. Nevertheiess, the work has been accomplished, and we have now before us two bulky volumes representing the edition for 1000. A more useful book of reference for merchants, manufacturers, and traders, of every description cannot well be imagined. A map of England and street maps of London and the principal provincial towns are included, and a section of the book is devoted to a gazetteer.

South Wales Daily News (Cardiff)

The work is divided into two stopendons volumes of over 3000 pages each, strongly bound, and admirably indexed. In order to indicate the enormous range of the information given in the directory, it may be mentioned that it includes authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man. the Channel Islands, and a concise gazetteer of England and Wales, giving a great deal of useful information.

Weston Mercury and Somersetshire Herald (Weston-Super-Mare)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 compiled by William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., is one of the most comprehensive works that has ever been issued
